you took a step closer as they opened the door to the dooms so empty and silent... and air so cold ghost in the family, it never speak ghost in the family, it always...

CHORUS:

come with you and speak, come with you and speak come with you and speak voices so thin it won't forget, it won't leave stab your heart, your heart belongs to sorrow night grows inside you, but are you gonna let go?

once you had that dream, you touched the mourning sun in the darkness of those days, but everything left unsaid, undone ghost in the family, it always speak ghost in the family, it never...

come with you and speak with voices so thin it have to forget, it have to leave
stab your heart, your heart belongs to sorrow night grows inside you, will you let go?

and when the ground is frozen and your gaze the hamlet roads your eyes blur in a bleak view and nothing what it seems ain't it ironic and stange how life feels prearranged now when you find it out, nothing makes sense life means dying
