"Waiting For The Day"

You say this and I say that
You close your eyes and go to bed
We could have so much more to say
We decide to give it to another day
I can't sleep, so I do think
I get up and get another drink
I'll have some more time to spend
So I'm waiting for the next weekend

Waiting for the day
That we'll find our way

Now I realize what went wrong
And with that I'm not so strong
The opposite, I feel so weak
In the mirror I punch the geek
I'll build up myself again
I'll stop and leave this train
Until the day it starts again
When it's time to win this game

Waiting for the day...
