I'm twenty-seven now
And I'm still growing up
Even grey-haired I will be your fool
I'd like to ask you out
But you don't call me back
It seems like my quest must go on

OK, I learned a lot
Even how to smile
When your appearance makes want to leave
Have you ever been alone
And been so afraid
That you didn't even want to speak it out

You took me one step down
I'm taking two as one
Even when you're gone I will be there
I'm not the one to change your world
In two or three or four guitar chords
You may have heard before

OK, I learned a lot

We're not the ones to change your world
In two or three or four guitar chords
You may have heard before
