Forgotten feelings
I can't get them out of my head
Now It's too late
Sunken memories
The times we all lived through
Are still in the back of my head

We have a past to share
We made a good look then
I got some pictures of you
And those times that we lived through

Heartbreaking moments
Inside those walls we love
In that we dance
Our eyes have met
Those times we won't forget
That we still have

We have a past to share...

Someone I might know as well as myself
Could cross my path
Someone that might know as well as I do
Could make me feel as one, again

We have a past to share...
