I know that I can be harsh sometimes
I know that I can be blunt at times
I know that I'm not the one you run to I'm not the one left to see you cry
But I hope to win you over

CHORUS:

What if I met you across the sky
What if you could only try
What if I could give you everything
Would you pass me by

You say that you know me but you only know what you want to know

Your eyes tell a story different than the one you show
You've hidden in the shadows for far too long now
The sun's coming up there's no place to hide now

CHORUS

What if I met you across the sky
What if you could only try
What if I forgave you of everything
Would you pass me by
