Right

You and me against the wall
Kiss or fight, it's your call
No matter what you do, I'll still feel the same about you
We're at a crossroad

Our situation's changing from day to day
You're probably thinking
That we should go on our separate ways
No matter what you do, I'll still feel the same about you
We're at a crossroad

I get your point, we're better friends than lovers
(I get it, I got it, I guess that we're moving on)
And if I had a chance, I'd do it all over
(I get it, I got it, I guess that we're moving on)

You got in my heart, you got in my head
And I believed everything that you said
We're at a crossroad, we're at a crossroad
We're at a crossroad, I guess that we're moving on

You and me, we disagree
I'm growing young and you're maturing
You see things in black and white
It's not my fault you're colorblind

You finally followed through
With all the things you told me you'd do
You're leaving me in Dallas
Headed off to somewhere new

Just like you
No matter what you do, I'll still feel the same about you
We're at a crossroad

I get your point, we're better friends than lovers
(I get it, I got it, I guess that we're moving on)
And if I had a chance, I'd do it all over
(I get it, I got it, I guess that we're moving on)

You got in my heart, you got in my head
And I believed everything that you said
We're at a crossroad, we're at a crossroad
We're at a crossroad, I guess that we're moving on

Okay, I get your point, we're better friends than lovers
And if I had a chance I'd do it all over

You got in my heart, you got in my head
And I believed everything that you said
We're at a crossroad, we're at a crossroad
We're at a crossroad, I guess that we're losing

I get your point, we're better friends than lovers
(I get it, I got it, I guess that we're moving on)
And if I had a chance, I'd do it all over
(I get it, I got it, I guess that we're moving on)

You got in my heart, you got in my head
I believe everything that you said
We're at a crossroad, we're at a crossroad
We're at a crossroad, I guess that we're moving on

I guess that we're moving on
I guess that we're moving on
