Maybe it's the beach
Yeah
I'll blame it on the waves and the sand
Or maybe the stars
Yeah
Or maybe saying,
"Oh who cares?"

But for now we'll confide
In the fact that we're here
Holding on to the lives
That we let go
Just a girl
I'll tell you, boy
You ought to know

Anna, did you know
How you would fall,
For someone, so hard
And Anna, is it warm out
Where you are
On the planet you're on

See these secrets
Down in the ocean
(Gone with tide)
Just what becomes her
To turn this one up
Put it in fourth gear
And let's go

Flight five is here (flight five is here)
I can't find the wing
It's over now
We're going down
I'm coming home to you

Anna, did you know
How you would fall,
For someone, so hard
And Anna, is it warm out
Where you are

On the planet you're on

Cast your dress
Off the edge of the pier
Don't look back
And don't forget
All I've whispered in your ear,
Darling,
If you wait
To say what you feel
It's too late
Cause with the sunrise
I'll be gone

Cast your dress (cast your dress)
Off the edge of the pier (edge of the—)
Don't look back
And don't forget (don't forget)
All I've whispered in your ear,
Darling,
If you wait
To say what you feel
It's too late
Cause with the sunrise
I'll be gone

Anna, did you know?
Anna, did you know?

Maybe it's the beach
Blame it on the waves
Or maybe the stars
That made me say

Anna, did you know
How you would fall,
For someone, so hard
And Anna, is it warm out
Where you are
On the planet you're on

Anna, did you know?
Anna, did you know?
Anna, is it warm out
Where you are
On the planet you're on

Maybe it's all on me
