I've got a plan to keep you in my life
To keep you for all time
As long as you could stay mine.
But you're holding back
On all those stupid things we seem to lack.
But the only fact is we have this world here

And the sun is on our side
Making her brown eyes come to life
The moon is on our side,
Making my dead lime eyes come to life.
(We've had the world for so long)

I've got a love whose words rise above the strongest sense of love.
A few could rise above her.
But now we've had at that,
With all those stupid little questions we had to ask.
But we'd sell our souls for the things we know.

And the sun is on our side,
Making her brown eyes come to life.
The moon is on our side,
Making my dead lime eyes come to life
(We've had the world for so long)

We can't stop this

This is love, at it's best,
So relentless, how could we forget?
We can't stop this
We've had the world for so long.
