

Forgive Durden

"Il Tango Della Signora Francesco di Bartolommeo di"

Visit "Il Tango Della Signora Francesco di Bartolommeo di" on MotoLyrics.com

I feel your heart beat.
Your pasty hands shake.
I'll be every breath
Your trembling lips taste.
Metal teeth try to save you.
Button flies want to keep you pure.
Nothing can stop me now.
I will have you.

I was born to do this dance.
So follow my every step.
I'll lead your careening hips
And slaughter your innocence.

Her pearls and trap mutter something soft.
I whisper back "You're messin' with the Big leagues now, hun."
I bite her neck.
She begs, "What's in your heart?"
She urges I spill my thoughts.
I volunteer nothing but liquid.

I was born to do this dance.
So follow my every step.
I'll lead your careening hips
And slaughter your innocence.

I have got centuries
Of teachers before me.
I can do anything.
But I can't really do anything.
You've been our guest tonight
But I dine alone.
This could never be a home.

Visit Forgive Durden page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.