Did you ever make your mother cry?
Did you look in her face with your piercing eyes?
A troubled childhood took a knife to her heart when you cover your fears when ever they start you told your lies to get out of your home you crept off somewhere and he found you alone lust in his eyes weapon in his hand and he left you there when love always demands and you see

only ballerinas can dance and you found
{yes you} found a friendly romance
little girl in the snow you should've stayed home baby it's cold out there tonight
baby it's cold out there your school work papers all forgot your name you became the dust from which you came all the voices coming out of the dark the snow melted away all your blood in the park tell me darling what you're thinking of {summer night} you had fell in love when you met up with the man with the knife now you're all alone in the snow without life

and you found
{yes you} found a friendly romance
you should've stayed home
baby it's cold out there tonight

baby it's cold out there tonight {repeat}
