

Forty Foot Echo "Songbird"

Visit "Songbird" on MotoLyrics.com

There's a songbird, it's flyin' away from me
Never knew how far I'd have to go
Could've been you and me

Could've been you inside the world
Just between you and me
Now it's just you against the world

The lights are on but you're not home
'Cause I am just a passerby
I feel I've lost my self control
To all the bullshit that you hide

The lights are on but you're not there
But still you find the reason why
There's a shadow behind you

There's a window
It's holding our memories
Just to see your face and know your name

Could've been you and me
Could've been you inside the world
Just between you and me
Now it's just you against the world

The lights are on but you're not home
'Cause I am just a passerby
I feel I've lost my self control
To all the bullshit that you hide

The lights are on but you're not there
But still you find the reason why
There's a shadow behind you

There's no change in silence
Look past the world of yesterday
Take me away
This song I sing for you and me

The lights are on but you're not home
'Cause I am just a passerby

I feel I've lost my self control
To all the bullshit that you hide

The lights are on but you're not there
But still you find the reason why
There's a shadow
There's a shadow behind you
