And it started with your promises
That we would live a life of bliss
This isn't how I pictured it, those were lies

And we're sifting through the evidence
To prove your trust, it don't exist
Now we're all kids against business
And we're torn

But I can be saved
If I just open my eyes to everything
Lights on display
There's no room

If this is what's called love
I've been betrayed
Now there's a lack of faith
I can't explain

All the trades, the parted soul
Now we're just doing what we're told
There is no way that we could make it alone

And we're sifting through the evidence
To prove your trust, it don't exist
Now we're all kids against business
And we're torn

So we can be saved
If you just make the bad dreams go away
If this is what's called love, I've been betrayed
Now there's a lack of faith I can't explain
