

Foxy Brown

"You And Me"

Visit "You And Me" on MotoLyrics.com

And through the years we've stayed together
Friends we've made, but love always change with age
Like weather rains the pain it fades

And with out the rain we'll dry, we'll wither up and die
Just like those lonely desert plains the cowboys ride

And in this moment both our eyes are lined
And I can feel you more than ever before
And all the world just disappears

And in that moment I am Adam, you are Eve
Lancelot and Guinevere and all our past is history
You and me, you and me

And some die young and some die old
Every one a chance to hold a love they find
And find the heart of another soul that's left alone

And baby when you cry, we'll sit down side by side
And I will hold you in my arms 'til you're alright

And in this moment both our eyes are lined
And I can feel you more than ever before
And all the world just disappears

And in that moment I am Adam, you are Eve
Lancelot and Guinevere and all our past is history
You and me (is all I see), you and me (is all I see)

Visit Foxy Brown page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.