Looking to the eyes of the people
You'll look into their eyes and you'll feel the pain
Nothing seems to be the same again
This has been the shock of a lifetime
This could be the end of all we know
I figure you're the only way to go
Didn't we achieve all we wanted
Didn't we break down all the walls
Didn't we answer all the calls
After all the morning has broken
Blackbirds's singing
Cause some things never change
I'm begging you to stay within my range
I am awaiting you
How do you feel
In a world out of tune
How do you feel
From daybreak till noon
Till sunset soon we all will turn back
Into normal again
Thinking bout the times they are changing
I'm thinking bout the world that lives in peace
Am I sailing all the seven seas
Someone told me hide what you're thinking
Someone said it's easier said than done
Someone tells me you're the only one
I am awaiting you
How do you feel
In a world out of tune
How do you feel
From daybreak till noon
Till sunset soon we all will turn back
Into normal again
Maybe we should talk about tomorrow
Maybe it will take some time
I know our wounds will heal
Baby we should try to find a way to carry on
Tell me how do you feel.
