

Fragments Of Unbecoming "A Faint Illumination"

Visit "A Faint Illumination" on MotoLyrics.com

Betraying wisdom towards sheltering of thou.
For I'm not liar - drenching all my past in you.
Building enemies - the ones that scattered me before,
My world on fire - retaliating undone deeds.

My fate - not just words to bring me down,
Aside - melting withered disacceptance.
Eternal struggle, forcing disgust with redemption.
My dead emotions - showing me this black dimension.

Forsaken dreams I bleed - neither that I'm not awaking.
Can't stand the calling - fervant fears that I have doubted,
The soul devoured - surrendering an endless distrust.
Lost all glory - serving no more altered deride.

A Faint Illumination!

Pleasure of the elder ones - fulfilling obedience,
Enlightening shadows - overwhelming lurking pathway.
My tasteful harmony - scourging lifeless superstition.
A life so disagreed, never to be released...

Betraying wisdom towards sheltering of thou... [repeat]

Abandoning the sun - I bleed! Abandoning the sun!

Pleasure of the elder ones... [repeat]

A Faint Illumination!

Soilent hereby, whispers crawling upwards silent.
Devotion intense, calling from the darkest inwards.
Scattered ease, falling into unborn sorrows.
Illumination - forgotten source of insane wishes.

Abandoning the sun!

Visit Fragments Of Unbecoming page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.

