There's a point in all your dreaming,
To every time mean has just deserves,

And every time I caught you leaving..
I had to dream awake..

And for every time I came home screaming,
And got sent away, with no warmin at all,

I had to dream awake..
There's a calling, a calling, a calling,,
To everyone, who lost something.

There's a fight were not conending,
And who had to dream awake.
Where we have to the words get mixed,

So take us under now..
And the point is lost
Take us over now..
Where we have to dream awake.

To everyone, who found something..there's a warning,
a warming, a warning,
