You're lying to me
As you're lying next to him
It's as if you think this won't conflict

I'm dying to see
The smile as you leave
As you're back is turned, you can't resist

And I ain't complaining
I am just saying
Things aren't the way they've been

If I could find
Just one more life
I'd follow wolves every time

I can't pretend
With your back on my bed
That you'll tell me the things you did

And no-one believes
The things they can't see
We blind ourselves to not feel a thing

I told you I'd tell you
Those scenes that you see through
You threw me, now I'm torn in two

I'm trying to find
A cure in my life
That will let me love just one more time

And I'm still trying (repeat)

You're lying to me
As you're lying next to him
And we're right back to where we've been
