Maybe I should just move along

But you know I'd draw blood if that's what you want
You found someone who makes you laugh
Who'd stick around but that's not what you want

You slipped at the start
And dragged the whole thing sideways down
Everybody fucks up
Its just something that's been going round

And you found someone who said he'd stay
Who'd give it all but that's not good enough
Now your standing alone

And your living alone cause you don't know what you want
And your wondering now, cause you don't know what youve done
And your living alone

Then maybe you could see a little clearer now
Maybe I should just disappear for now

And you found some one who makes you laugh
And you blame it on your broken heart
But everyone who reaches out gets stung
Who promised you he'd never let you down

Now your standing alone
And your waiting alone cause you don't know what you want
And your wondering now cause you don't know what
you've done
And your living alone
But you know i'd draw blood
If that's what you want..maybe I should just move along
