"Believe In Me"

Who am I? The answer lies in you
And where am I?
I'm drifting all the time
It's not only me, it might be you
I see that coldness in your eyes
If we move together, it will get easier
There's such a distance between us,
I regret that distance that tears us apart
And if the world stops turnin'Â´
I'll wait for you

It's not too late to share our fate
To trust in our feelings, they'll never return
Believe in me, believe in me, believe in me.

I know why, I've suffered all the time
We should try to fight for our illusions,
If we made it Â´til the end
I'd still be with you!

Don't you cry, don't you sigh, don't you fall into collective silence
Never become a part of it
Don't be afraid, don't hesitate to get away from this depressing distress
Then you will see the light!
