Hello you! It's been a while
That I really faced such desperate eyes
My own eyes
I had visions of what could be
So many dreams were kept inside of me
Where have they gone?
Years went by - reality strikes
But all those visions still burn deep inside
I am a little bit wiser
Hold on to your dreams!
Look around and you will see
So many people captured in their greed
They've lost their creed
There's too much pride and bitterness
And broken hearts unable to confess
What they've missed
Years went by now I realize
That every day is a new day to try and try
Can't get it out of my head
Sometimes I feel so sad
Imprisoned by myself
I wanna get out of this cage
Unlock this cage!
Hold on to your dreams!
