

Frames

"Song For Someone"

Visit "Song For Someone" on MotoLyrics.com

Dryin' up in conversation, still
My head was halfway round the world
And workin' through the sleepin' hours
Driven by the promise of a quick return
And I wonder if she'll be the very same
And I wonder if she's gonna break the waves
Again...

Tryin' hard to focus on the good
I'm tired of divin' for the pearls
And every dawn is another morning less
I have to wait to wake beside that girl
And I wonder if she'll be the very same
And I wonder if she's gonna break the waves

And if we're all for someone
And if we're born for someone
When will they come, that someone?

And put things in their place?

Comin' back to see you girl,
You know there's nothing surer in this world
Remember all the mad
Back when we weren't young enough to wait our turn
And I wonder will we be the very same
And I wonder if we'll both survive the rain

And if we're all for someone
And if we're meant for someone
When will they come, that someone?
And put things in their place?

And if we're meant for someone
To wait each day for someone
When will they come, that someone?
And put things in their place...

Visit Frames page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.

