When you talk in the wind, nobody hears
Makes you feel like hiding, where no one sees the tears
All alone I told you that you can trust in me
All we need is what we have wait and you will see
I've been holding on to shattered dreams
And I've been living life to extremes
But when I thought I couldn't carry on anymore
It all comes down to you
When you're caught in the rain and nobody cares
Makes you feel like running but nothing compares
To all the things I wanna do with you by my side
If I had a thousand years would I be satisfied?
I've been holding on to shattered dreams
And I've been living life to extremes
But when I thought I couldn't carry on anymore
It all comes down to you
All alone I told you that you can trust in me
All we need is what we have wait and you will see
I've been holding on to shattered dreams
And I've been living life to extremes
But when I thought I couldn't carry on anymore

It all comes down to you

I've been holding on to shattered dreams

And I've been living life to extremes

But when I thought I couldn't carry on anymore

It all comes down to you - Oh Baby

It all comes down to you
