(Girl)

How could you have the heart
to break the heart?

I loved you so. I don't know.

How could you hurt the one that cared so much for
you?

How could you be so cruel?

I'm here talkin to myself wishing you were here to have.
'Cause it's so hard when loneliness becomes your only
friend.

And the world that I once knew is so empty without you.

How could you have the heart to break this lonely
heart?

My life's so dark and empty
since you went away.

I think of you night and day.

The loneliness around me just reminds me
of how much I miss you love.

How I long to feel your touch.

Only God knows just how much.

I need to hold you in my arms
and feel your warmth again.

Life's so lonely without you.

Love's so distant and untrue.

How could you have the heart
to break this lonely heart?

I always thought that love

would last a lifetime

but like the seasons

it just seems to fade away.

Now I'm left here on my own living all my dreams alone

but the one that won't come true

is to share my life with you.

How could you have the heart
to break the heart?
How could you have the heart?

How could you have the heart
to break the heart?
How could you have the heart?

How could you have the heart
to break the heart?
How could you have the heart?

How could you have the heart
to break the heart?
How could you have the heart?

(Man)

You're always on my mind every minute of my life.
Seems like I can't forget you God knows how I've tried.
But every time I close my eyes I see your face and all the memories come back to me
and it's as though it used to be.

I know you think that I'm a man without a heart
and I'm the reason why your world all fell apart.
I never meant to treat you bad or selfishly
but it's so hard for a man like me to be tied down with nothing free.

(Woman)

Come back home to me I'm waiting just for you cause without your love I don't know what to do.
Come and change to laughter these tears that I cry;
this emptiness inside.

How could you have the heart to break the heart.
I loved you so. I don't know.
How could you hurt the one that cared so much for
you?
How could you be so cruel?

I'm here talkin to myself wishing you were here to have.
'Cause it's so hard when loneliness becomes your only
friend.
And the world that I once knew is so empty without you.

How could you have the heart to break this lonely
heart?

How could you have the heart
to break the heart?

How could you have the heart?

How could you have the heart
to break the heart?

How could you have the heart?

How could you have the heart
to break the heart?

How could you have the heart?

How could you have the heart
to break the heart?

How could you have the heart?
