Things are looking better already
At least I tell myself they are
Everybody has a solution
Why can't I find one on my guitar

If ignorance is bliss, well then I'm the king
Someone shook up my world again
If I could paint a smile on my broken face
And nobody can tell that I just can't win

Over and over

If I run away
Would it matter anyway?
What would they say
Don't bother the boy, It's just that way

Everything is breaking in pieces
Maybe nothing has changed at all
Strawberries and blood And a long walk home
Who will pick me up when I fall?

Pictures of people that I don't know
Things no one can remember
Always waking up with a brand new scar
And nobody can tell that I just can't win

Over and over

If I run away
Would it matter anyway?
What would they say
Don't bother the boy, It's just that way

If I run away
Would it matter anyway?
What would they say
Don't bother the boy, It's just that way
