if there were words that i could use to describe exactly what you mean to me i'd wish to be a poet then those words would feel so easily to me but i guess that i'm not and all that i got are simple words to say to you girl that i love ya i put no one above ya i know that's when simple words will do i could search all my life for all the words that could mean more but i know that those simple words will do just say you're my heart that's when simple words will do just say i love you

just say you're all i need

just say you're everything

there's always times when i keep trying to find a better way to let you know that i'd pull down the moon down for you if you want or move a mountain just to prove
