"Another Place"

Here in another place at another time, I'm in love with you still Here while another face, gazes into mine, I remember the thrill
If he should take your place, would it be so wrong when I failed to be true
I long for your embrace but it's been so long, here alone without you

Nights with no one there to meet, wandering down the empty street
That's why, that's why, here am I Just about to fall for him, all at once your face is dim and he is all I see

Here in this other place on another shore, it's so lonely to wait
Come to another place, love me as before before it's too late Before it's too late.
