There's a time of night when I come alive getting near
The hurry and the heartache of day disappear
Like a curtain of dreams, giving forth and so it seems
I must be getting ready to lose my midnight blues
The night is made for lovers and you're here with me
The moon is bright, the night is warm and it's for free
I don't like the day, I get bored in every way
And if I had the choice, I would choose my midnight blues

If you live for the day, you know what I mean
Those who live for the night can hang on to a dream

Midnight is the time that I love to love you And nothing could be better if you feel the same way too
When the hands on the clock, travel round and meet at the top
I know I'll never live without feeling midnight blues
And let me tell you how I need midnight blues.
