No one can break this little heart of yours
This little heart that thinks for you alone
Strange hearts, little heart made of stone
Once brought me happiness too
No one can shake this little heart of yours
Some day I may have someone else to meet Hope that your little heart skips a beat
That's never happened to you

Some day someone may make you see this way you'll end up with regret
Then you'll have quite forgotten me, this little heart, I never will forget
Some day someone may make you see this way you'll
end up with regret
never will forget

No one can take this little heart of yours
You've got the one and only voice it hears
No one has ever brought you to tears
You've been too sure of my love
Why should this little heart close it's doors
When you could have more of my love
Oh why should this little heart close it's doors
When you could have more of my love.
