Here and now is your life
Here and now is your time on earth
This is it and nothing more
This is it and nothing less

So don't look back and cry
Cant change the course of time
So don't look back and cry
Cant change the course of time

If tomorrow never comes
How would you live your life today
Would you embrace the gift of life
Or would you throw it all away

So don't look back and cry
Cant change the course of time
So don't look back and cry
Cant change the course of time

Time's just a number of counted days
It's just a number of counted days
Time's just a number of counted days
It's just a number of counted days

This is your life, this is your time
This is your life, this is your time

Time's just a number of counted days
It's just a number of counted days
Time's just a number of counted days
It's just a number of counted days
