Just for now, let's call it romance, just for now, let's take a chance,
We both know it would seem to be the real thing
That makes the bells ring, but dare we dream?
Just for now, let's not be clever, just for now, let's just
be gay,
And come what may, that certain day will find us somehow
It will be always instead of just for now.

be gay,
And come what may, that certain day will find us
somehow
It will be always instead of just for now.
