

Frank Sinatra

"The Future Song Without Words"

Visit "The Future Song Without Words" on MotoLyrics.com

(feat. Loulie Jean Norman, Beverly Jenkins)

[Alto solo by Beverly Jenkins] (chorus)

(Your imagination has an awful lot to give)
(If our right to live were yours hauntingly)

(full musical interlude with chorus)

(brief transition)

If a man has a story that he badly needs to tell,
A man's imagination makes a lovely wishing well,
(make a wish, make a wish)
I wish I could write a song everyone alive could understand,
(A song that a Frenchman could sing to a Spaniard)
(A song that a German could sing to a Russian)
(A song that if ever you'd sing, you are king)
(Wouldn't it be wonderful, won't it be grand)
To write a song that the whole wide world could understand.

(lala , lalala, lala, lala, lalala, lala)

(lalalala, lalalala, lala, lalala, lalala)

lalala, lalalala, lala, lalala, lalalala, lala) lalala, lalalala, lala, lalala. lalala)

(music and repeat)

[Gonna find me a gypsy and get my fortune told,] [I'm gonna say, please missus gypsy, tell me what the future will hold]
(Tell us what the future will hold.)

Visit Frank Sinatra page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.