[includes a fragment of Hurricane (Sigarlaki)]

Spider: Bit of nostalgia for the old folks!

Gilly: I'm advocating dark clothes

Girl #1: If I'm not alone . . . How long have I been asleep?

Gilly: As long as I have

Girl #2: Did you ever live in a drum?

Girl #1: No

Girl #2: Well then you aren't me

Gilly: I only dreamt I lived in a drum. Ever since it got dark. Dreaming is hard

Girl #1: Yea, but with nothing over your head?

Gilly: No, just light, over my head. And underneath too

Girl #1: I don't think I could take it without anything over my head

Girl #2: Mm-mmh, I couldn't either

Girl #1: Well why don't you go out and see what's out there?

Gilly: Well . . . I don't know if that's what's out there

Girl #2: Now that's a thought

Gilly: Yes . . .

Girl #2: If you'd like . . .

Gilly: But still you can say darker and darker. I don't know what the outside of this thing looks like at all

John: I do. It's dark and murky

Spider: How do you get your . . . your water so dark?

John: 'Cause I'm paranoid. I'm very paranoid. And the water in my washing machine turns dark out of sympathy

Spider: Out of sympathy?

John: Yes

Spider: Um . . . where can I get that?

John: At your local drugstore

Spider: How much?
