Life is all but fair
We get it all for free but we don't care
We share an unknown fate
You never know before it is too late

A lesson to be learned, today my perfect life is ordinary
But wait and see, this is the way you will be free

This is the last time I will complain
You gave me the knowledge to break the chain
This is the insight that I've been searching for, the times when I feel soar

We play an unfair game
I know my thoughts and life is just a shame
And it makes me sick
When I watch them build it brick by brick

I got it all for free, but wait, I didn't ask for these benefits
Stand up and see, this is the way you will be free

This is the last time I will complain

You gave me the knowledge to break the chain
This is the insight that I've been searching for, the
times when I feel soar

I have my feet deep down underground
I'll change from white to black without a sound
You can improve, you just have to try
Just try to break me and I'll show you (I'll show you why)

This is the last time I will complain
You gave me the knowledge to break the chain
This is the insight that I've been searching for, the
times when I feel soar

This is the last time I'll be this grey
Maybe we'll live now, just for this day
This is the insight that I've been searching for, the

times when I feel soar
