Two Perfect People

We were born two people of perfection
Each of us has played the perfect role
But failure came our way from no direction
Till two perfect people made perfection fold

When we met it seemed that fate had joined us
Two people too alike to disagree
So alike that we forgot each other
Two perfect people forgot our human needs

How did we persuade ourselves that our love was so strong
With two perfect people how could anything go wrong

Now the picture clearly stand before us
Too much pride has made our love turn cold
But one mistake just proves that we're still human
Yes two perfect people made perfection fold

Yes two perfect people made perfection fold
