When the dawn brings a brand new day I try to force myself to say I'm finally over you But sunshine doesn't mean a thing I spent my time remoring
The things we used to do Yes you're gone and there's no way to go back to yesterday
And I don't know what I'll do without you

I've told myself a million times I've got to get you off my mind
But I never do
And so I'll spend another day remembering my life away

And missing you
Yes you're gone...
Without you
