Last night your eyes were telling me what words could never say You needed room to breathe, you needed time to get away
It's a wear for you heart, and I know just how you feel Your dreams so real, and I would never hold you against your will

And so I will wait for you, just as long as you want me to Yes I'll wait for you, I know you'll come through I hope you'll find that the things you need are the things you had with me
Yes I'll wait for you, you know I'll wait

Today I woke up wondering was I right or was I wrong ?
Did I really mean to let you go, did I mean to act so strong ?
Was it the way of a fool's heart to agree to set you free All I know, if our love is real then you'll come on back to me

And so I will wait for you, just as long as you want me to Yes I'll wait for you, I know you'll come through
I hope you'll find that the things you need are the
things you had with me
Yes I'll wait for you,

When I look out the window and I see a stranger go walking by
I always imagine that it will be you next time

It's a wear for you heart, and I know just how you feel
Your dreams so real, and I would never hold you
against your will

Yes I'll wait for you, I know you'll come through
I hope you'll find that the things you need are the things you had with me
Yes I'll wait for you, you know I'll wait
