I don't like you when you've been drinking
'Cause it means you're not thinking
Sayin' things you might regret
God, I am still attached to your strings
And you make me feel drunk too
And you make me feel drunk too
It's not over yet
Listen to the things that you're claiming
You pretend it's not raining when we're both soakin' wet

I just wanna take you apart now
Won't play with your heart now
I just wanna see if it's broken,
If the words that i've spoken put it back the right way
But I don't think that I should stay the night
I don't think that I should stay the night

I don't like you when you're with your friends
But your nights and lost weekends
Are the line without a net
You insist your love is still burning
Do you still feel that yearning, when you're lying in his bed?
Choking on the dirt of devotion
It's a drop in the ocean when you want what you get What you get

I just wanna take you apart now
Won't play with your heart now
I just wanna see if it's broken,
If the words that i've spoken put it back the right way
But I don't think that I should stay the night
I don't think that I should stay the night

You dream I'm wrong, you dream I'm right
But you shake it off and you say goodnight
And if that time don't ever come
Will you still be fine?
Fine

Listen to the things that you're claiming,

You pretend it's not raining when we're both soaking wet
(soaking wet)

I just wanna take you apart now
Won't play with you're heart now
I wanna see all the pieces from which you are made
I just wanna see if it's broken
If the words that i've spoken put it back the right way
But I don't think that I should stay the night
I don't think that I should stay the night

I don't think that I should stay the night
I don't think that I should stay the night
