The time has come
And the spell has broken forever

It's time, I'm longing for home again
And I fly from the eye of the storm I come
I see that shine wherever I roam the land
I'm alive and I'm climbing back to the sun

Distant places, different traces, far away from here
Distant places, different traces, so far away

Far above the mountains, over seven seas
I dive into an ocean, gliding with the stream
Far above the mountains, high over seven seas
I'm flying on emotions, soaring on the breeze

A cry, the sound of my tragedy
Hear the sigh with relief in my heart again
Peace in my mind and I'm riding on the wind
Tell me why, tell me why I have tears in my eyes

Distant places, different traces, far away from here
Distant places, different traces, so far away

Far above the mountains, over seven seas
I dive into an ocean, gliding with the stream
Far above the mountains, high over seven seas
I'm flying on emotions, soaring on the breeze

Far above the mountains, over seven seas
I dive into an ocean, gliding with the stream
Far above the mountains, high over seven seas
I'm flying on emotions, soaring on the breeze

Far above the mountains, over seven seas
Far above the mountains, high over seven seas
