Tell me if you want more
Tell me if you can't have more
Would that be the last that I would ever see of you
I'm not a hero to reverse
But let's identify the victim here
Toss out bygones with rebellion
I'm saving face, by not running in place

False alarm again
Go back to thinking you were dreaming about her
Dreaming you had found cure
But you can't write down the feeling that you have not found
What it is you thought could change you makes me
stronger now

I'm not a hero but at least I'm fair
When this is said and done, I need to hear
That out of the trails pleading your failing to specify
And now im saying goodbye

False alarm again

Go back to thinking you were dreaming about her
Dreaming you had found cure
But you can't write down the feeling that you have not
found
What it is you thought could change you makes me
stronger now

Tell me if you wanted more
I'm telling you there's nothing more
The biggest problem
I'm letting myself down

False alarm again
Go back to thinking you were dreaming about her, dreaming

[Whisper]

False alarm again
Go back to thinking you were dreaming about her

Dreaming you had found cure
But you can't write down the feeling that you have not
found
What it is you thought could change you makes me
stronger
