The sun shines brightly on a Jersey afternoon.
Walked in his parents footsteps on his way home from school.
Those ties that were so sweet, also burned under his feet.
Now he is ready to walk a path that is new.
And he can't turn back.

He can't turn back!
He can't turn back.

Buring through the clouds, he made it out alive.
He's betting everything on himself tonight.

Tonight!

She's driving down the shore on a Jersey afternoon.
She's driving down the same old road, her parents took her through.
Hypnotized by those broken lines, broken records lost in time.

She's turning down the road that is new, and she can't turn back.
No, she can't turn back!
She can't turn back.

Stepping through the darkness, into the light.
Shes betting everything on herself tonight.

Tonight!

Stepping out of a Asbury Lanes in a midnight snow.
The skeleton of this old town looks like it's coming alive.
Bryan said "corruption, beaches and bruce,
The songs were the keys to the engines of our growin' up.

And we wanna say, thanks to the music in our lives,
Forgive ourselves for all the lies.

Send somebody to all the lonely, don't forget we're all one family.

Thanks to the music in our lives, for helping us to survive,

Lost in one lonely dream, born to run and live free.

The sun shines brightly on us this afternoon

Walking in our own footsteps, we search for something new.

We can't turn back.

No, we can't turn back!

We can't turn back.

Stepping through the darkness, into the light

We're betting everything, we're betting everything

We're betting everything on ourselves tonight.

Ohhh tonight!

Tonight!

Tonight!

Tonight!

(ohhh ohhh woahhh ohhh ohhh)

Tonight!

(ohhh ohhh woahhh ohhh ohhh)

Tonight!

(ohhh ohhh woahhh ohhh ohhh)

Tonight!
