There was a time we had so little
But we thought it was so much
There was a time we had no control
And we lost all touch
So much emotion, so many days passed
So many things we thought would last
And everything it seemed so big
So much invested in the past

Well we're still dreaming
Still believing
No longer looking for the new thing
No longer looking for the new thing

Sometimes we look but it's hard to see
Lost inside a memory
Thinking of all the good times gone by
But that was yesterday's high

Well we're still dreaming
Still believing
No longer looking for the new thing
No longer looking for the new thing

Wasted too much time
Chasing dragons in our dreams
Funny how hard it was to see
Life's not so complicated
So complicated as it seems

There was a time we had so little
And a little was enough
It took some time but now we see
Everything's inside of us

Well we're still dreaming
Still believing
No longer looking for the new thing
No longer looking for the new thing
