She met from far away
Walking in a park one summers day
They talked because they could
Excited 'cause the other understood
Then one night he was nowhere to be found
Under the starlight vanishing without a sound

Imaginary friend
Too good to be true
Gone before she knew

Imaginary friend
She can see his face
Nothing, left no trace

Imaginary friend
No one would believe
Was she so naive

Imaginary friend
Was he standing there
Disappeared into thin air

She's on the road again
This time around she saw him on a plane
It was a bumpy flight
He leaned in close and squeezed her hand so tight
Then one night he was nowhere to be found

Under the starlight vanishing without a sound

Imaginary friend
Too good to be true
Gone before she knew

Imaginary friend
She can see his face

Imaginary friend
No one would believe
Was she so naive

Imaginary friend
Was he standing there
Dissapeared into thin air

Imaginary friend
Too good to be true
Gone before she knew

Imaginary friend
She can see his face

Imaginary friend
No one would believe
Was she so naive

Imaginary friend
Was he standing there
Dissapeared into thin air
