Anchors Aweigh my friends, I'll see you another day I'm going away, experiences have to come and the past has got to go back into our dreams, back into our dreams

Anchors Aweigh my friends Everybody understands that good times, that good times they come and they go and together we will always flow
back into our dreams, back into our dreams
And our troubles, we can't leave them behind but the wind blows, and blows them all away and the road goes...and takes them all away
...back into our dreams
