Glory awaits on the battlefield
For the galliant that answered the call
Glory awaits with her arms outstretched
For those that had given all
Glory awaits for those that never bowed
Despite the odds against overwhelming powers
Glory awaits for those that stood fast
Down through our darkest hours
Glory awaits for those laid to rest
The heroes that never made it back home
Glory awaits in the fields of white crosses
Where their names are etched in stone
Glory awaits amongst the blood soaked soils
Where many brave men still lie
Glory awaits in the final moments
When you are about to die!
