What will it take to set yourself free. One more mistake
Before you finally see. That things aren't really all That they're cracked up to be. As the government condemns
White people like you and me.

You find it hard to believe the things I say. These Things go on every day. Open your eyes and you will see.
Then join the fight and set yourself free.

You see I was a believer in what was called the american Way. But now times have changed, and because I'm white
There's a price to pay. It's a price so great, it's so Hard to conceive. But once you have seen, then you will Believe.

You find it hard to believe the things I say. These Things go on every day. Open your eyes and you will see.
Then join the fight and set yourself free.

Listen to my words, for I speak the truth. Now look Around you and you will see my proof. Can you not see What's right under your nose. Or do you just turn your Back when the wind starts to blow. Can you not hear the Thunder of the do you just fear the gods of war.
Do you not feel racial loyalty. Can you not taste white Victory.

You find it hard to believe the things I say. These Things go on every day. Open your eyes and you will see.
Then join the fight and set yourself free.
