

Frenzal Rhomb

"I Don't Need Your Loving"

Visit "I Don't Need Your Loving" on MotoLyrics.com

Well I needed to define what it was that made you mine Was it pity or disgust? I used to know but now I just don't trust
Since the accident what it was you meant?
I convinced myself it was heaven sent that the ambulance was sent

And I wish I had disguise, please let ignorance provide A shield covering my pride might restore my faith in good Yeah a wish I understood but I don't care
I just need another 'lude and intravenous food

I don't need your loving all I need is a spinal operation
I don't need your loving all I need is another operation

In my weakened state I might, independence I won't fight
'Cause I don't need your sorry eyes or was that just terrible disguise
Or was it loose, thinly veiled hate I understand Why you didn't want to wait when it's time to operate

I don't need your loving all I need is a spinal operation
I don't need your loving all I need is another operation
I don't need your loving all I need is a spinal operation
I don't need your loving all I need is another operation

And now I'm running out of time, now I know that hate is blind
It's all legal, not a crime, I give consent to your detriment Press the buzzer and you'll know it's time, ask the nurse
She'll say everything's fine, take a scalpel to my spine

I don't need your loving all I need is a spinal operation
I don't need your loving all I need is another operation
I don't need your loving all I need is a spinal operation
I don't need your loving all I need is another operation

