Wasting Time

Time just rushing by
I don't have a clue which day it is
I get carried away but strangely I don't mind
'Cause the days I've spent have been with you
And it's great to waste time like this
I've spent them blindly - happily
My ignorance is bliss ...

You're the only privileged allowed to waste my time
I don't mind doing nothing just as long as you're around
Silence is beautiful - so please don't make a sound

No worries - no obsession this will end
What a new experience optimism is Well maybe happiness won't last
But why spend my time down?
Why keep living in the past
Or worry what's to come?

You're the only privileged allowed to waste my time
I don't mind doing nothing just as long as you're
Silence is beautiful - so please don't make a sound

Are you just content, - playing along?
Or are you truly equally stunned
Will you miss this feeling if one day (it's) it is gone?
Or are you killing time just for the fun? Just for the fun?

You're the only privileged allowed to waste my time
I don't mind doing nothing just as long as you're
Silence is beautiful
So please don't make a sound You're the only privileged allowed to waste my time
I don't mind doing nothing just as long as you're
Silence is beautiful

So please don't make a sound, don't make a sound...
(sshh)
