Won't kiss the mouth that mocks the pain that's inflicted
Thought that I could trust but I was tricked instead
Won't embrace the one who burdens me until I snap
Left to languish bleeding caught inside this trap

Throwing rocks at a drowning man
Everyone should try it
No point to struggle anymore

The one weapon that sharpens every time it's used
That venomous tongue is always eager to abuse
When everything around me starts to tip and fall
Vicious when I'm down winds up to kick me when I crawl

Throwing rocks at a drowning man
Everyone should try it
No point to struggle anymore

I can't keep it up, it's just useless now
Drains my energy, I won't waste my time now

Throwing rocks at a drowning man
Everyone should try it
Throwing rocks at a drowning man
(No point to struggle anymore)
Everyone should try it
(No point to, to struggle)
