Tina and I went shopping the other day
Both bought new dresses, wore them right away
Cut off the tags - no second thoughts
Can't take them back, wouldn't want to of course
Why be sensible - money's dispensable
Don't worry be happy make the most of what's available

Wear your Sunday best on Mondays
Doubt when the weather report says: Save it for a rainy day
We could see each other Saturday Or get together next week, - but why wait? Use the good china

Tina and I read a poem the other day
We didn't write it but it's so cool that (we'll) I'll quote it anyway:
"You've got to love like you've never been hurt Act like you don't need money when you go to work"
-Look before crossing - it's advisable
But jumping in with both feet is what I call admirable ...

Wear your Sunday best on Mondays
Doubt when the weather report says: Save it for a rainy

We could see each other Saturday
Or get together next week, - but why wait? Use the
good china

Wear your Sunday best on Mondays
Doubt when the weather report says: Save it for a rainy
We could see each other Saturday
Or get together next week, - but why wait? Use the
good china

I could wait to say "I love you"
Until I'm sure you're gonna say it too
Or I could just say it right now
Why that strange need to postpone Living in the future is wrong

Use the good china
Use the good china - Use the good china
