The time has come to make a stand
No compromise in sight
No more words, it's time to act
The battle has begun
The battle has begun

I can't hold back the rage no more
My brain is on fire
No more words and no more lies
And take what you desire
Take what you desire

For long enough you've cheated yourself
And now it's time to act

More power to society
Will only drag you down
Just stand up for yourself
With both feet on the ground
With both feet on the ground

Believe in what you try to do
Don't let them bring you down
More power to society
Will only drag you down

The time has come to make a stand
No compromise in sight
No more words, it's time to act
The battle has begun
The battle has begun

I can't hold back the rage no more
My brain is on fire
No more words and no more lies
Take what you desire
Take what you desire
Take what you desire

I can't hold back the rage no more
My brain is on fire
No more words and no more lies

And take what you desire
Take what you desire

The time has come to make a stand
No compromise in sight
No more words, it's time to act
The battle has begun

More power to society
Will only drag you down
Just stand up for yourself
With both feet on the ground
With both feet on the ground

Believe in what you try to do
Don't let them bring you down
More power to society
